Dear Mary:

I spoke with Carol last week about the AALL board members and her impressions of their expertise and abilities as speakers. After our discussions, I decided to take our chances with whomever we are assigned. Just for your information though, I have summarized Carol's comments. Ahearn spoke at NOAALL and was very helpful in the context of their program which had heavy emphasis on law firm libraries. Golden's specialty is "extension service" to county and institutional libraries in Minnesota. Kehoe is a good speaker but Carol didn't know any expertise. She had only heard him speak in the context of responding to questions in a discussion group situation. Tuke impresses her as being a very dynamic speaker. Dimes-Smith gave the introductions at CONELL and did very well, but Carol has not heard as a panel speaker. Lembke Busse was described to me as outgoing, good at discussion group types of things, bringing the audience out. Carol and I agree we will probably not get her with the travel involved. Tuke is a good bet if scheduling allows. Hope this is helpful as you begin to plan. I will let you know when I hear from headquarters who our representative is to be. Take care.

Sincerely,

Hazel L. Johnson
